

Hakiqa logo usage

Batch 7 review · 8 October 2026

Approved source artwork

Use the approved four-panel symbol with its exact gaps, rounded corners and proportions. The teal and orange screens sit over the navy and red bases. Choose an approved light or dark colour file for its setting.

Use only the capitalised Hakiqa and brush-script Hakiqa wordmarks. Capitalised is the default in product and interface use; use the script where its fine strokes remain legible.

Lockups and clear space

Use the supplied horizontal and stacked compositions from Batches 3 and 4. Keep text, borders and crop edges clear of the visible artwork. Approved square app icons retain 12% visible padding per side; the social avatar retains 18%. These are export measurements, not a universal spacing rule.

Small sizes and print

The 16 px and 32 px favicons preserve all four panels. Fine seams can merge naturally at native size; do not omit panels or redraw gaps. For thermal receipts use the supplied 384 px one-bit black PNG. Proof physical sticker size and cut line with the vendor.

The capitalised wordmark sticker uses the approved outlined wordmark.

Stickers and motion

Batch 7 compositions are review proposals built from approved source artwork.

Sticker set

The wordmark stickers present capitalised and script options on white rounded backings. The “Ipo kwa duka” sticker uses the approved dark-field mark with outlined Urbanist lettering.

Motion set

Assembly: four intact panels settle into the approved symbol once. Quiet loop: small reversible panel translations over 2.4 seconds for a real loading state. Lockup reveal: the approved horizontal capitalised composition is uncovered once.

Each animated SVG responds to reduced-motion preferences. Use its static PNG poster where animation is unsuitable. MP4 review files have white backgrounds. Do not delay a user action for a logo sequence.

Asset status

Marvin approved the final Batch 3A–6 outputs on 8 October 2026. Batch 7 stickers, motion and this guide are new proposals. Superseded explorations remain provenance only.
